

Family Law 101 for the
Mental Health Professional:
The Marital Dissolution

The course is designed to educate the mental health professional on the process of a legal divorce. It will cover general concepts and process options such as collaborative divorce and mediation as alternatives to litigation. Explanation of the basic issues of custody, support, and property division will be offered to help the mental health professional understand which part of the divorce process their client may be in. There will be ample opportunity to ask questions and get the answers you need in order to understand the life-changing process your clients are experiencing.

This Presentation Will Explain:

- ◆ The dissolution process, from initial petition filing to marital settlement agreement or trial.
- ◆ RFOs: What they are and when they are used?
- ◆ The differences between temporary and permanent restraining orders.
- ◆ Custody definitions: legal, physical, joint, and sole.
- ◆ The process and importance of Child Custody Recommending Counseling (CCRC), also known as custody mediation,
- ◆ The differences between litigation, mediation, and collaborative divorce.
- ◆ Referencing case law and important Family Code sections.

About Bartholomew & Wasznicky LLP

Bartholomew & Wasznicky LLP, now with offices in Davis and Sacramento, is the region's largest Family Law firm, with over 125 years of combined experience in California family law. In addition to handling family law matters traditionally, we emphasize and encourage using appropriate dispute resolution techniques, including the collaborative process and mediation, as a means to a less contentious, non court-involved proceeding. Our philosophy is based on the idea of "divorce with respect". We stay current with family law matters through continuing education and by maintaining memberships in professional legal organizations.

Hal D. Bartholomew, co-founder of Bartholomew & Wasznicky LLP, has been practicing family law for over 40 years. He has been a Certified Family Law Specialist since certification commenced in 1980. He is currently president of the Sacramento Collaborative Practice Group and a member of their training team as well as Founding President of Collaborative Practice California (CPCal). He is a Fellow of the American Academy of Matrimonial Lawyers (AAML) and the International Academy of Family Lawyers and a Past President of the Northern California Chapter of AAML.

Emily R. Nahan, co-presenter, received her bachelor's degree in psychology at UC Davis with a minor in economics. Inspired after working as paralegal with a litigation firm in North Carolina, she attended Wake Forest School of Law and obtained her Juris Doctor. Upon graduation, Emily was awarded a family law fellowship through her law school. Since returning to Northern California, she has practiced family law exclusively.
